Financial Summary Report

Part of the discussion with Tony Ward with Oli C:

“what we are asking you to do is imagine you are launching the product for real - how much? how many would you sell? what kind of customer? how and where would you market it? That kind of thing.”

Is it also a good idea to include a future business plan? Would you like me to briefly go into market plans and potential future investment opportunities? If so, how much detail would be appropriate?

“Yes definitely - with lots of details - it is the realism of this plan that I specifically look at when reviewing all groups submissions. The key question I ask is what is the likelihood of this actually working as a business?”

Other Deliverables:

Financial Summary Report - Due Friday 22nd May
